

Encore Website Terms of Use

Pictures, videos, schematics and products flyers within Distribution Central are provided as a service to you as a valued distributor of our products. Please use them accordingly. We appreciate your efforts to purchase and sell our products. Pictures and other support material are the property of Encore Packaging, LLC and can be used exclusively for the promotion and sale of Encore Packaging's products. Any person and/or company using materials to promote non-Encore Packaging LLC. products and/or misuse or misrepresentation of our product images will be subject to all available remedies. Products, information and specifications are provided for informational purposes only based on our understanding of the industrial standards. Every application is unique. It is the distributors responsibility to understand the needs of each and every application on hand and make the proper recommendation to their end-users. Encore Packaging is in no way liable nor can it be held accountable for any interpretation, reliance and recommendation based on the information presented. By clicking login, you agree to said terms and conditions.